

HEADING TO WHERE IT'S WARM

Nebraska winters can be tough
This year it was always storming
Looking at 10 ft. drifts Ed asked
"What happened to global warming?"

His aching joints and the weatherman
Said South is where he should go
So packed up his pickup and trailer
And headed toward the Alamo

He dreamed of the Pearly Gates
St. Pete was about to let him in
St. Pete said it was a close call
No cattleman is free from sin

Ed said my wife and I discussed it
And she was an easy sell
If it won't upset the Lord
We'd like a look at Hell

I've never had a good fat cattle market
And we've fought many a winter storm
We heard Hell has all the packers
And I know it should be warm
